Green Tee Apparel Sponsors "Open Canvas", a Cancer Benefit with Pacific Shores Hematology-Oncology Foundation

For Immediate Release: June 25, 2008

Foothill Ranch, CA - Green Tee Apparel recently announced their partnership and involvement with the Pacific Shores Hematology-Oncology Foundation at the inaugural June 21st "Open Canvas" evening for cancer benefit in Long Beach, California. As a key sponsor, Green Tee Apparel supported the fundraising effort for the foundation that provides support and education to individuals and families facing cancer and blood disorders, supporting research towards better diagnosis and treatment and care, and fostering efforts to improve the quality of life of its patients.

The Open Canvas event included a fundraising dinner and an auction of provided artwork, paintings, and portraits from local artists and current and former patients. A former patient and breast cancer survivor herself, Tiffany Tran, VP of Sales for Green Tee Apparel, provided an artistic piece for display, Green Tee Apparel products for auction, and was featured as one of the key note speakers for the event. Since her battle with cancer in 2005, Tran has discovered her ability to express herself through art and fashion design.

Tran with her very first artistic expression.

Green Tee Apparel was founded in Southern California and focuses their philanthropic efforts with organizations that the founders have been directly impacted by or associated with through their personal endeavors. Tran and co-founder Liz Doan, VP of Operations, have both overcome difficult personal challenges and found golf as one of their life's passions. That passion led them to start Green Tee Apparel which recently released their "The Originals" collection this spring with a full line of ladies fashion forward athletic golf apparel.
